

Solving Efeso provides exclusive & practical Lean introduction training

Nowadays companies encounter enormous pressure in this ever-increasing competitive environment. Especially in time of crisis the aim is not only to survive, but also to remain competitive. Organisations are constantly challenged to produce more, quicker and to deliver better products in order to satisfy increasing customer demands while their own employees are getting squeezed due to stress.

Lean offers the perfect answer to this challenging environment: By elimination of losses and reduction of non value added activities, it ensures an organisation minimal costs, maximum quality and reliability. A Lean organisation increases the customer satisfaction and employee motivation while reducing costs by continuously shortening the lead time.

Solving Efeso offers a unique introduction training on Lean, based on our many years' of international experience and expertise. For more than 30 years now Solving Efeso helps multinationals, large and medium companies worldwide with its expertise in Operational Excellence.

The exclusive introduction training in Lean contains:

- 1st session day: one day Lean-training on techniques and concepts.
- Practice task by you: At the end of the training day you'll get an individual task to improve an existing process within your company
- 2nd session day: 1/2 day personal Lean Assessment on-site of the individual task performed in your company.
